Governor and CM extends Teachers' Day greetings

ITANAGAR, September 4:

The Governor of Arunachal Pradesh Lt. General K.T. Parnaik, PVSM, UYSM, YSM (Retd.) has extended his heartfelt greeting to the people of the State and the esteemed members of the teaching community on the occasion of Teachers' Day, which marks the birth anniversary of one of India's most distinguished sons and former President, Bharat Ratna Dr. Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan. He expressed hope that the day will inspire those in the noble profession to renew their commitment to imparting knowledge and value-based education.

In his message, the Governor said that Dr. Radhakrishnan was a great philosopher, a humanist, and above all, an exemplary teacher. He was warm-hearted with his colleagues, a paragon of knowledge, a strict disciplinarian, yet always approachable. No matter the position he held, whether as Ambassador, Vice President, or President of the country, he remained a teacher at heart. Teaching was his first love, and those who were fortunate enough to learn under him remember with gratitude his outstanding qualities as an educator, he said.

The Governor said that teachers play a pivotal role in the lives of students and in society at large. With their foresight, knowledge, and experience, they significantly influence the growth, development, and well-being of students, and by extension, the Nation. On this significant day, I urge members of the teaching fraternity to follow the path of righteousness and high morals exemplified by Dr. Radhakrishnan, he said.

May the celebrations of this day inspire us to embrace the ideals and values that Dr. Radhakrishnan practiced, which reflect the best traditions of our ancient Gurukul teachers and have greatly contributed towards 'Viksit Bharat', the Governor said in his message.

Chief Minister Pema Khandu has also extended his best wishes to all teachers working in the state on occasion of Teachers' Day.

As Teachers' Day is celebrated to commemorate the birth anniversary of Dr Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan, the first Vice-President of India and the second President of the nation, Khandu recalled an instance when once his students asked Dr Radhakrishnan if he would allow them to celebrate his birthday.

"While he declined any special recognition for himself, Dr Radhakrishnan proposed that students celebrate the day as Teachers' Day to acknowledge the valuable contributions of teachers to society. Since 1962, September 5 has been observed as Teachers' Day to pay tribute to his and all teachers' exceptional contributions to education," Khandu said in a message this evening.

He particularly hailed teachers imparting quality education – both moral and academic – working in rural and remote areas of Arunachal Pradesh despite lack of basic amenities.

"The sacrifice that our teachers make in Arunachal Pradesh is praiseworthy and incomparable. Generations to come will be ever grateful to them," he said.

Paying rich tributes to the teachers of yesteryears, Khandu expressed hope that they are doing good in their second innings.

He also congratulated the teachers, who are being conferred with state and national awards for their outstanding contributions in the field of education on the auspicious occasion.

Certificate Courses for Accountants of Panchayats and Municipal Bodies Board for Local Bodies Accountants Certification (BLAOC)

There are shortfalls in the preparation of accounts across various tiers of Local Self Government (LSG) as evident from the audit conducted by the C&AG and Local Fund Auditor, various reports prepared by governing departments of LSGs and as highlighted by progressive Finance Commissions. One of the primary reasons is the shortage of competent accountants in adequate numbers willing to work in Local Self Governments (LSGs), particularly in the lower tiers and remote localities. The six tiers of LSGs are District Panchayats (DPs), Block Panchayats (BPs), and Gram Panchayats (GPs)/Village Panchayat in case of Panchayati Raj Institutions (PRIs) and Municipal Corporations, Municipalities and Town Panchayats (TPs) in case of Urban Local Bodies.

To address this shortfalls, the Comptroller & Auditor General of India (C&AG) and the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (ICAI) have entered into a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) for collaborating to develop a set of online courses of different categories of LSGs to create pool of accountants, preferably drawn from contiguous areas of LSGs, who would be willing to work as accountants in LSGs in their local areas.

The certification course was launched on the Audit Diwas, 2023 at the Comptroller & Auditor General's Office, which is generally observed on the 16th of November. Efforts have been made to make the Course practical oriented, so that students are able to prepare the accounts of Local Government Units where they are engaged.

After enrolment of the first batch by the end of February 2024, the screening exam for the first batch was conducted in April 2024 and results declared on 10th May 2024. Total candidates who registered for the two Courses (PRI & ULB) were 619 candidates initially. 364 candidates appeared for the exam out of which 232 qualified. Rate of qualifying the Screening Exam was 64.17% and 62.9% in PRI and ULB, respectively.

Two months is stipulated for study of the course material for the Main Exam.

In the meanwhile, registration is in full swing for the second Batch. For the second Batch, the registration started in March and there have been 550 plus registration till May 2024.

Various State Governments are coming forward to give a fillip to this endeavour. Special Secretary to Government of West Bengal has written to Mayor/ Municipal Commissioner of all Municipal Corporations, Municipalities/ Notified Area Authorities of West Bengal to sponsor nominations from their offices. In Rajasthan, all accounting personnel of the ULBs have been directed by the Department concerned to enrol for the Course. In Sikkim, all accounting personnel have been mandated to enrol for the Course.

Oyster mushroom cultivation for resource poor tribal farmers

C.K.Singh, SMS (Agronomy)
Krishi Vigyan Kendra, Tawang (Arunachal Pradesh)

Mushroom is a wholesome food for all groups because of its nutritional and medicinal properties. Rich in protein dietary fiber, vitamins and minerals, it can be used to serve the nutritional needs of the rural poor. Arunachal Pradesh has a great scope for commercial mushroom cultivation by recycling paddy, Millets and maize waste for higher income generation. It can cater to the growing food demand; solve unemployment issues and environmental pollution to a significant extent.

Further, mushroom husbandry can help the farming community by generating income by utilizing the farm waste. The substrate remains after cultivation of mushroom is more readily Digestible and palatable and palatable to livestock. Additionally, it can be exploited as a source of manure, and mulch for soil and others. Mushroom cultivation consumes huge quantity of organic wastes and degrades complex organic pollutants and thus helps to maintain clean environment.

Focus area: Farm women, rural youth, resource poor, landless, small and marginal farmers.

Extension activity followed: During the baseline survey, it was found that farmers use the paddy, millets and maize straw for feeding of animals. To make use of straw and generate alternate income from waste, oyster mushroom production was introduced.

Performance Indicators:

Technical observation	Before	After
Yield	First time introduced	280kg

Economic indicators
Cost of cultivation (Rs/ha) 12,000
Net income (Rs/ha) 44,000
B: C ratio 3.6
Impact and lesson learnt: Within the month of mushroom production, 60 kg mushroom were harvested from each unit and sold to the local market. The farmers expressed interest in mushroom production due to its low investment and management.
