ARUNACHAL PRADESH - A PROFILE

Arunachal Pradesh - the “Land of dawn-lit mountains”, erstwhile North East Frontier Agency (NEFA), is situated at the north-east extremity of the country. Geographically, Arunachal Pradesh lies between 26028” to 29030” N latitudes and 91030” to 97030” E longitudes with the total area of 83,743 sq. km. It is bounded by Bhutan to the west (160 km), China (Tibet) to the north and north-east (1,080 km) and Myanmar to the east (440 km). It shares inter-state boundary with Nagaland in the east and south-east and Assam in the south.

The past knowledge about Arunachal Pradesh and its people is known mainly through oral literature and a number of historical ruins found mainly in the foothills. The widely scattered archeological remains - Itafort, Malinitan, Bhishmaknagar, Rukmininagar, Bhalukpong, Nakshapavart, Parsi-Parlo, etc. found at different places in Arunachal Pradesh bear testimony to its rich cultural heritage and linkages with the rest of the country. During the medieval period, a number of Buddhist monuments of Mahayana tradition were constructed at Tawang, Dirang, Kalaktang and Mechuka. The Tawang Monastery of 1681 A.D. is the largest and most celebrated Buddhist monastery of the State.

As per 2011 Census, Arunachal Pradesh has a total population of 13,83,727 persons of which 7,13,912 are male and 6,69,815 are female. The literacy rate is 65.38%. The scheduled tribe population accounts for 64.22 per cent of the total population, as against 88.50 per cent in 1961.

Arunachal Pradesh records an enormous increase of percentage of urban population over the years. In 1971 the percentage of urban population to total population was 3.70%, 6.56% in 1981, 12.80% in 1991, 20.75% in 2001 and 22.94% in 2011. Prior to 1971 Census, no place of Arunachal was accorded the status of an urban area. There are 29 urban centres at present, which are towns by census norms.

Arunachal Pradesh is basically an agricultural state. About 68 per cent of the total working population is engaged in agricultural and other related activities. With very few exceptions, they practice ‘jhum’ (shifting cultivation) on the hill slopes, the practice that is rooted in their culture and tradition. The secondary sector accounts for 6.66 per cent of the total working population. Total rice production in 2014-15 is 28,5000 MT. About one fourth of the total workforce i.e. 23.90 per cent is engaged in tertiary sector.

Forests play significant role in the ecology, economy and socio-cultural life of the tribes of Arunachal Pradesh. It is the primary source of natural wealth of the state. Forest covers accounts for 80.99 per cent of total area of the territory spreading over 51,540 sq. km. The landscape and forests vary with changing altitude, which comprises of alpine forests, temperate and sub-tropical forests, and semi-evergreen forests.

Arunachal Pradesh has twelve Wildlife Sanctuaries, one Orchid Sanctuary and two National Parks - Mouling National Park(Upper Siang District) and Namdapha National Park, Miao, (Changlang) covering an area of 9856.177 sq. km. The State has 20% species of country's fauna, 4500 species of flowering plants, 400 species of pteridophytes, 23 species of conifers, 35 species of bamboos, 20 species of canes, 52 Rhododendron species and more than 500 species of orchids. It is considered as one of the 12 mega diversity “Hot Spots” in the world.

The wildlife of Arunachal Pradesh is both rich and varied with tigers, leopards, elephants, deers, bears and apes. The Mithun (bos frontalis), found both in wild and semi-domesticated environment, has great socio-economic and religious significance for the tribal communities of the state. Arunachal Pradesh is also the happy home of the great Indian Hornbill.

Political Evolution

Before the introduction of modern participatory democratic institutions, traditional Village Council was the only known Institution, which regulated the socio-political and cultural life of the people in this territory. Every tribal group has its own type of village council with different nomenclature but with almost similar functions. It is known as Kebang among Adis; Tsorgen among Monpas; Jung among Sherdukpens; Mele among Akas; Buliang among Apatanis; Gindung among Nyishis; Abbale among Idu-Mishmi; Mokchup among Khamti and Wangchu-Wancha among Wanchos.

The Inner Line Regulation of 1873, for the first time, separated some tracts inhabited by tribal people from the districts of Assam and British Authority. The area was kept outside the purview of regular laws of the country and administered in different way by passing regulations and framing procedures from time to time.

The area was given formal recognition as separate administrative unit with the notification of 1914 by the Foreign and Political Departments of the Government of British India. The Notification made possible the extension of Assam Frontier Tracts Regulation, 1880 to the Hills inhabited or frequented by Adis, Miris, Mishmis, Singphos, Nagas, Khamtis, Bhutias, Akas, Nyishis, etc. Therefore, hill areas inhabited by above tribal groups were separated from the Darrang and Lakhimpur Districts of the province of Assam to put these areas under own administrative jurisdiction, exercising the power under Regulation of 1880. As a result, the North-East Frontier Tracts came into being.

The Government of British India was not keen to introduce full administration in this region. They remained concerned mainly with protecting their plain interests from hill tribes and taking out occasional punitive expeditions. The administration was directly under the Governor of the provincial Government of Assam. The Federal Government of British India used to contribute some amount to the Government of Assam for administrative and developmental expenses.

After the transfer of power, in 1947, the Governor of Assam was deprived of his discretionary powers in respect of the North-East Frontier Tracts. The administrative jurisdiction was passed on to the Government of Assam by virtue of the provisions of the Indian Independence Act, 1947.

With the Constitution of India coming into force, a change was visible in the administrative set up of the Frontier Tracts. The Government of Assam was relieved of its responsibility for the administration of North-East Frontier Tract and the discretionary powers were re-vested in the Governor of Assam, as the agent of the President of India. Although the region was still part of Assam, the legislative jurisdiction was not extended to the areas.

In 1954, a full-scale administration of the area was inaugurated, with the promulgation of North-East Frontier Areas (Administration) Regulation of 1954. North-East Frontier Tracts came to be known as North-East Frontier Agency (NEFA). The President of India promulgated the North-East Frontier Agency Panchayati Raj Regulation, 1967 based on the recommendations of Daying Ering Committee. The Regulation created three-tier local administration- Gram Panchayat at village level, Anchal Samiti at Block Level and Zila Parishad at District Level. The fourth tier was the territorial level body named as Agency Council, which was renamed as Pradesh Council in 1972.

The North-East Areas (Reorganization) Act, 1971 provided a new name and new political status to NEFA. NEFA was rechristened as Arunachal Pradesh and in 1972 it became the Union Territory of the Republic of India. It was placed under the control of a Chief Commissioner. The administration of the territory was run by the President of India acting through the Chief Commissioner of Arunachal Pradesh till 15th August, 1975. In this year the Pradesh Council was converted into a Provisional Legislative Assembly and a Council of Ministers was appointed for Arunachal Pradesh. The Administrator of Union Territory of Arunachal Pradesh until then designated as Chief Commissioner was upgraded to the Lieutenant Governor.

Consequent upon the passing of the Constitution 55th Amendment Act, Arunachal Pradesh attained the fullest political status on February 20, 1987. The Legislative Assembly of Arunachal Pradesh passed the State of Arunachal Pradesh Act, 1986 in order to give effect to the 55th Amendment Act, enabling it to become the 24th State of Federal India with a full-fledged Legislative Assembly and a popular Government.

Society and Culture

Arunachal Pradesh is home to many tribes and sub-tribes and minor tribes with rich cultural heritage. As the state has received waves of migration from different directions in different groups, the tribal communities have achieved their heterogeneous character. As they remained in isolation for several centuries and did not allow outside interference in their way of life, all of them developed their separate and independent cultural identity.

Verrier Elwin has placed the people in Arunachal Pradesh under three broad cultural groups on the basis of their socio-religious affinities.

The first group includes the tribes who follow the Buddhist religion or have been influenced by Buddhism. The Monpas and Sherdukpens of Tawang and West Kameng follow the Lamaistic tradition of Mahayana Buddhism. Culturally similar to them are Membas and Khambas who live in the high mountains along the northern borders of Upper Siang and West Siang. The Khaptis and the Singphos, inhabiting the eastern part of the state, are Buddhists of Hinayana sect. They are said to have migrated from Thailand and Burma long ago. The Zakhriangs of the Lohit Valley are influenced by Buddhism of Mahayana sect. They have migrated from Zeyu in Tibet. They are characterized by their expertise of carpet making, weaving, dancing, painting, mask-making and elaborate dresses.

The second group consists of the Nyishis, the Apatanis, the Adis, the Mishmis, the Tagins, the Mijis, the Akas, the Puroiks and the Khowas. The religion of this group can be termed as animistic-naturalistic. They worship natural objects and ancestors. The Tani group of people - the Apatanis, the Nyishis, the Adis, the Galos and the Tagins worship Sun (Donyi) and Moon (Polo). These tribes are excellent in weaving and fine works of cane and bamboo.

The third group comprises the Noctes, the Tangsas, and the Wanchos of Tirap and Changlang districts. These tribes are known for their masculine dances, and art of woodcarving. They have been known for their association with the practice of headhunting and their contacts with Burmese tribes.

The festivals, marked by elaborate rituals and dances, form an essential element of the socio-cultural life of the people. Some of the important festivals are Mopin of the Galos, Solung of the Adis, Losar of the Monpas, Dree of the Apatanis, Si-Donyi of the Tagins, Nyokum of Nyishis and Reh of the Idu Mishmis.

All the languages of the tribes of Arunachal Pradesh except Khamtis belong to “Tibeto-Burman family”. The Khampti language belongs to Tai group of the Chinese Siamese family. English is the official language of the state. Hindi and Assamese serve as the lingua franca in absence of a commonly accepted language for all the tribes.

Important Places of Historical and Tourist Interest

AALO: the district headquarters of West Siang district, located on the banks of Siyom river, offers an attractive tourist place. On way to Aalo one can see the historical Malinithan temple, the Legendary Akashi Ganga, a point from which one gets a breathtaking overview of the Brahmaputra and its tributaries. Siyum river also provides an excellent fishing ground.

ANJAW: A land of enchanting beauty with its lush hills, deep valleys of Himalayas and turbulent rivers flowing down the verdant hills and virgin forests, number of foot suspension bridges on the rivers, pleasant wind flow, and above all, beautiful tribes of this area , Anjaw is a place of serenity and quiet. The district boasts of some beautiful places like Dong that experiences the first sunrise in India or Kaho village which is the last border village in the Indo-China border. Anjaw is also home to Kibithoo, which is one of the remotest circle headquarters in Arunachal Pradesh and the only circle headqauter facing a visible across vantage of international boundary in the Indo-China border. Flowers of vivid hues, cascading waterfalls, wild raspberries and spectacular pine forest adorn the place in most exquisite way. Tall and blue mountains standing in a pleasantly cool climate adds to the charm of Kibithoo. In past times, the place has also been the witness of the war between India and China in the year 1962.

ANINI: The district headquarter of Dibang valley, Anini is known for snow capped mountains, lofty ranges, lush-green forests, evergreen pine and bamboo, various flora and fauna, and breathtaking views.

BHISMAKNAGAR: Once a stronghold of Chutiyas (12-16 Century AD), Bhismaknagar is istuated in Lower Dibang Valley. Excavation of ruins of ancient fort have revealed the high standard of civilization that once prevailed there.

DIRANG: Famous for hot water springs where people take bath for curing skin ailments, Dirang in West Kameng is a sight for sore eyes with its Apple and Kiwi Orchards, National Yak Research and Breeding Centre and Sangti Valley, where Siberian black necked storks visit during winter.

There are other places of interest in West Kameng as well like the famous Sela Pass (13,700 ft above sea level) and the Sela tunnel which is the longest bi-lane tunnel in the world at 13,000 feet. the tunnel will provide all-weather connectivity to Tawang across Sela Pass on the Balipara - Chariduar - Tawang Road, boosting the preparedness of the Armed Forces and augmenting the socio-economic development of the border region. The Orchid Research and Development Station and the orchidorium at Tippi and two other orchid conservation sanctuaries located at Sessa and Dirang are also worth seeing.

ITANAGAR: located at an altitude of about 1,700 ft. above sea level between 93o east longitude and 27o north latitude. The Capital which houses the Raj Bhawan (the official residence of the Governor) has also other worth visiting places in and around Itanagar. These include the legendary Ganga lake (Gyekar Sinyi), Zoological Park (Chimpu), Buddhist Gompa, North-Eastern Regional Institute of Science and Technology (Nirjuli), Jawaharlal Nehru State Museum (Itanagar), Rajiv Gandhi University (Doimukh), government piggery and poultry farm (Nirjuli), and Government Fish Farm Emchi (Doimukh). Itafort (built in 14th-15th century AD), the famous archaeological site after which Itanagar is named is also located here.

MALINITHAN: This place in Lower Siang, is a site of rich granite sculptures belonging to 14-15 century AD, the more important being Indra on Airavata, Surya on Chariot and the huge Nandi bull. The temple dedicated to Goddess Durga at Malinithan is built on the classical tradition of Orissa.

According to the local legend associated with the place, Lord Krishna carried away Rukmini the daughter of King Bhismaka, on the eve of her marriage with Shishupal. Krishna and Rukmini were welcomed here by Parvati with garlands. Parvati thus acquired the name Malini and the place Malinithan.

MECHUKA: Mechuka in Shi Yomi is situated at a high altitude of 1890 mtrs close to Mac Mohan Line. Mechuka is made of three words: 'men' means "medicinal", 'chu' means "water" and 'kha' means "ice" in local language. Mechuka is fringed by lofty mountains and snow-capped mountains of Eastern Himalayas. It has a lot of attractions for the tourists with its salubrious climate and Buddhist Gompas, Gurudwara and hospitality of the local people.

NAMDAPHA: located in Changlang district, is famous for its wildlife national park. There are a large number of tigers and elephants in it and the white winged wood duck, a rare and endangered species, has been sheltered in the Park.

NAMPONG: A quaint small town situated in the picturesque scenic valley in Changlang, one can enjoy the nature's ride and the sight of beautiful terraced tea gardens all the way from Jairampur to Nampong. The close proximity of the town to Burma border makes it very crucial & important. During the three day border trading market, people are allowed to cross international border at Pangsau Pass with due permission from the concern authority. The Government has declared Nampong as international trading hub. 20 Km from Nampong one can see World War II Observatory post at Wintong.

The historic Stilwell Road (Ledo Road) passing through the Nampong and goes down to Burma from here. The Pangsau Pass, the Indo-Burma (Myanmar) border is just 12 Km away from Nampong where the famous lake, 'The Lake of No Return' can be viewed from the Pass. During World War II, large numbers of Aircrafts were reported to have perished into this lake.

PARASHURAM KUND: in the lower reaches of Lohit river is the legendary place where Sage Parashuram atoned for his sins. It is a place of pilgrimage and on Makara Sankranti day people in large numbers come to have a holy dip in the Kund.

TAKSING: This village is in Upper Subansiri and was one of the first 17 villages to be recognized as a vibrant village to boost tourism and economic activities. It lies in the Indo-China Border. Perched at an elevation of approximately 2200 meters, it is inhabited by the Tagin tribe. Nestled amid the Himalayas, Taksing holds spiritual significance for Tibetan Buddhists.

TAWANG, apart from being the headquarters of Tawang district, is the abode of the 400 years old Monastery of Mahayana Buddhist. Located at an altitude of 10,200 ft above sea level, the Monastery is even today the focal point of spiritual life of the Buddhists of the region and still houses more than 500 Lamas. It consists of a huge complex with 65 residential buildings and a main temple structure. It is also the second largest monastery of Asia. Apart from Tawang monastery itself the area has number of other temples and is the birth place of the VIth Dalai Lama.

TEZU, the headquarters of Lohit district is a growing town, famous for its scenic beauty. Thousands of pilgrims visit this place on way to Parashuram Kund, located 45 kms away where every year Parashuram Kund Mela is held in the month of January.

ZIRO: the headquarters of Lower Subansiri district at an altitude above 5000 ft is a pine-clad plateau of scenic grandeur. It is famous for the vast Apatani plateau and its fish-cum-paddy culture. A number of important developmental projects which include high altitude fish-seed farm and Ranganadi Hydel Project (NEEPCO) are located in and around Ziro. It is a five hours drive from the state capital, Itanagar.
